

Mission statement

Our mission is the dissemination of high quality academic publications securing the integrity of scholarship in a changing academic international environment.

Academic publishing involves collaboration, which transcends social, political and cultural boundaries. Our publishing is underpinned by the quest to academic freedom and freedom of expression independent from ideological or political interests.

As academic publisher we serve and assist the academic community acknowledging and supporting professional, legal and ethical responsibilities and standards attached to it.